Public Must Support Education by Buying Anticipation Warrants

The problem of financing the elementary public schools for the coming year is paramount with the members of that Board of Education and no doubt will be with the patrons of the public schools as time nears for the opening of schools this fall.

Up to this time $23,802.77 of the 1930 taxes have been received and this has gone to reimburse purchasers of 1930 tax anticipation warrants, the funds from which were used to maintain the schools during the 1930-31 school year (the year before last). The 1931-32 school year, which ended last June, would normally have been financed with the balance of 1930 taxes (not yet received) and approximately half of the 1931 taxes, all of which are still uncollected. This last school year has been financed by the issuance of $11,516.34 of 1931 tax anticipation warrants, and by issuing to the teachers' orders, indorsed and recorded by the Township Treasurer, as "not paid for want of funds," to the amount of $12,623.97. Of these teachers' orders, $3,264.06 have been redeemed, leaving a balance of $9,359.91, which are almost entirely held by the teachers themselves.

The situation is therefore this: $20,556.66 in 1931 anticipation warrants can be legally issued, also 75 per cent of the 1932 levy, against which nothing has been anticipated.

Will the people of Arlington Heights be willing to pay the educational part of their taxes or will there be the grave danger of our public school having to close?

St. Peter Lutheran School to Open Sept. 6

Opening of the St. Peter Lutheran school is to be Sept. 6, Tuesday next after Labor Day, according to Principal H. C. Landeck. Five teachers, all remaining from previous work at the school, will take care of the instruction this year; Teacher Haseman who was engaged last year as temporary supply, will go back to take his final year at Concordia Teachers' College at River Forest.

PEOPLE WILL SEE AND HEAR W. H. CASLOW

Main Street Crusader Appears at Palatine August 23

Final arrangements have been made for the bringing to Palatine one of the most renowned radio personalities in America, Winfield S. Caslow, the main street crusader. Mr. Caslow will appear in Palatine Tuesday evening, August 23. It will be an open air meeting, held two blocks north of the depot on Botwinell street. To the merchants of nearby communities and to the public in particular is extended a cordial invitation to be the guests of the association on this occasion. Ample facilities are being prepared to take care of a large crowd and that they will be no difficulty in hearing the speaker.

Mr. Caslow has a strong personality and his words carry a ring of sincerity that gets his message directly into the minds and hearts of his hearers. People who have heard him over the radio, travel many miles to see him personally. His fight in behalf of the individual merchant and individualized business life in the smaller communities throughout this section of the country, has won him recognition throughout the United States.

The nature of his work and the strong efforts of his interests to silence this man, is being met by wholesalers and independent merchants cooperating in bringing him before local audiences.

Mr. Caslow's talks are not a tirade against chain store competition. They are the presentation of a lot of merchandising facts in a forceful, interesting manner that is not alone entertaining but convincing. Whether you trade at a chain store, or buy only from the independents, you will enjoy The Crusader. He is worth while hearing. He is worth coming many miles to hear. He is fighting qualities, hitting straight from the shoulder. He puts into simple words a punch that carries a long way.

Re-organization or New Arlington Bank Deemed Necessary

DEPOSITORS COMMITTEE TO GIVE REPORT

Possibility of Reorganizing Peoples Bank Being Considered by Com.

Following the closing of the Peoples State Bank August 1, a meeting of depositors was hastily called Aug. 6, at the village hall, when a committee was appointed to represent the depositors of the closed institution.

The committee selected that evening was G. Schneiderger, chairman; Char. Voelker, secretary; W. E. Meier, Fred Wendt and Gus Heidorn. The committee at once got busy, interviewed officers of the closed bank, collecting as much information relative to the condition of the bank as possible. Information was likewise secured from various sources relative to the methods being followed in other places where banks have been reorganized. Assurances have been received from a number of the stockholders of the bank of their willingness to deposit with the committee, their stock and cooperate with the committee in any way that will aid in the reorganization of the bank.

The committee early decided that it was to the best interest of all depositors and stockholders that the receiver be a local man and so recommended to the state auditor, as well as to the board of directors, that the exact condition of the bank when the possible steps that can be taken, will be promptly made public.

Officials of Closed Bank and Village Hold a Conference

The finance committee of the Arlington Heights village board met Monday night, August 8, to consider the matter of village funds in the Arlington Heights State Bank closed a year ago; two directors of the bank being present and representing the surties on the personal bond given the village to insure it against any loss of money on deposit in that institution.

A long discussion took place, at which it was stated by a bank director that the village is fully protected and will not lose a dollar. Those who were surety for the deposits to the village were not able to make a payment at that time; but just as soon as conditions warranted, they would pay their obligation to the last penny, it was stated by two directors. The same platitude was made in a letter by a third director. The impossibility of obtaining personal loans at this time was given as a reason for present inability to pay.

Community Chorus To Begin on "The Messiah," Sept. 12

The Community chorus of Arlington Heights invites all lovers of good music to meet with them at their first rehearsal of the fall, Monday evening, at 8, Sept. 12, at the music room of Arlington Heights high school. "The Messiah," by Handel, is to be given this winter under the direction of Mr. Theodore Miltzer. The chorus scored a great triumph last season in "The Creation."

Broken Hydrant Threatens Water Supply of Village

Changes made in the water mains on account of the widening of Northwest highway was to blame for the breaking of a hydrant extension, Sunday night, with the result that many thousands of gallons got away before the water could be shut off. The water pressure was at a low ebb for a few hours thereafter.

Girl, Roller Skating, Attacked by Police Dog

Emma Heimann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heimann, 820 N. Dunton avenue, while roller skating one day last week on North Village avenue a block west of home, and going past a near-by residence, was attacked by a powerful dog, clothing torn, and a piece of flesh torn out of her leg. The girl is under the care of a physician.

ARLINGTON FINDS NEW ECONOMIES

Village Is Broke, But Saves Money; Again Cuts St. Lights

The affairs of a municipality the size of Arlington Heights seem to take no vacation and Monday night's meeting which the board members thought would be a short one, continued until the late hours. Many things, matters of importance, were before the board.

The chief concern of the village board is of course the "depressed" treasury, due to funds tied up in the two banks. For the first time the board found itself unable to pay the salaries of the employees, but orders were given for payment to them of half of the amount due, the balance to be in time warrants unless a way can later be found to secure additional cash.

There was some good news, however, when the lighting committee reported that additional saving was possible in street lights. The board adopted the recommendation, which provides for the elimination of overhead light at Dunton avenue and Miner street; the reduction of six 600 candle power lights in the business district to 250 candle power; reduction of all 250 c. p. lights to 100 c. p. and the discontinuation of 23 lights in those subdivisions. The saving in cost by these changes will approximate a thousand dollars a year. Previous cuts along the same line, earlier in the year aggregated about $3,000.

The village is about to sign a new contract with the Public Service Co. for electric power, the use of which in the present large quantities entitles the municipality to a reduced rate. The lowered cost is expected to be considerable.

Second notices have been sent to those delinquent in the payment of water rentals, the receipt of which the village needs. Likewise another request to business men for payment of delinquent licenses.

The monthly bills and payroll approved by the board amounted to $1,550.64, which is several hundred dollars less than the usual amount.

In place of paying police officers for overtime during the race meeting, the board voted to allow the officers additional time off duty. The action was taken on bill of Ralph Abel, for $254 as architect on new village hall.

A 1931 tax warrant was authorized for Mt. Prospect Electric Co. to cover the balance due that firm for electrical work on new village hall.

Fred Domkowski appeared before the board, claiming that in 1926 he had paid $100 for a carload of cinders for Dwyer street under promise of the board that the village would pay half of the amount. He asked payment. The board directed that the records be consulted.

The public grounds committee was given authority to purchase a large safe, 5 ft. x 35 inches, for $25.

W. H. Allen presented a report and recommendations for the sewage disposal plant, which were ordered placed on file.

Upon motion the clerk was ordered to notify the Creamery Packing Co. to neutralize acid or build a tank at the plant for the handling of waste. Later the committee was instructed to take the matter up direct with the superintendent.

The police committee reported that complaint of unnecessary noise at the roller rink had been investigated and had been abated.

A resolution was passed asking the Illinois Public Utilities commission to give a new hearing to the Kehe Motor which local firm has been denied a certificate.

The Garden club was granted the use of the Municipal building on Sept. 9 and 10. The Woman's club asked for its use Feb. 22, 1933, which was also granted.

Trustee Framberg reported the complaint of neighbors to the permanent storage of machinery at Hickory street by a contractor. The matter was to be handled by a committee.

Attorney Thiel was given authority to take measures to either collect the fines that have been levied against Rose Stier or close the bakery she is operating in a residential district.

Milburn Bros. Agree To Complete Pavement In Scarsdale Subdivision

On account of the laying of the big sewer thru Scarsdale, two street intersections were omitted when the other pavement was laid. Milburn Bros., the contractors offered to return bonds in lieu of doing the work. The board of Local Improvements were not agreeable to this plan, however, and the contractors were directed to complete the work.

Merle Guild Post Drum and Bugle Corps Get Write-Up in Danville Paper for Splendid Drill Work

C. J. Miller, Publicity) All of the Drum and Bugle Corps were on hand early Sunday morning and after resting up a bit had lunch and after practicing a while formed in march formation and left for the competition field at the High school grounds.

Those of us not in the Corps drove to the field, picked out choice seats in the stand and after a few minutes' waiting, saw the shining silver hats of the Corps coming up the street to the muffled beats of the base drummer, Comrade Browne.

At this time we might say that there were 60 corps in competition. When Merle Guild lined up for inspection those of us in the stand had a quick attack of the ague; our knees began to shake and we missed a few beats, our hearts were restless and in general we were a little uncomfortable, because please remember, that our corps is only three months old, has had no drill competition—in fact until two weeks ago never did a bit of drilling—and we only have had a few public appearances, starting Monday. Quite naturally those of us in the stand were nervous, but of all the boys at the field, we were the only ones nervous, as this is what the people around us said, "This is an old outfit; look how they snap into it." Yes, we immediately told them that this corps was in existence only three months, etc.

The command was given and our boys marched out, the drums and bugles in perfect accord and every one in step (something achieved but by few of the posts). After passing the reviewing stand, our major, Comrade George Schneiderger, stepped to the front and the boys went into the drill formation, the people in the stand remarking "something new, remote

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS CONTINUE

Deaths and Injuries Continue as Traffic Rumbles On

Deaths and serious injuries are reported in numerous auto accidents since the last issue of this paper. Fog is blamed for two deaths; a sharp curve on the Northwest highway invalids a father for life; failure to stop causes a woman to lose a finger and there are many minor injuries and hundreds of dollars in damages as a result because the American public is anxious to get somewhere ahead of everybody else. The accidents mentioned below are probably only a few of the many that have occurred.

No Warning Sign at Stub Road

There is no warning sign at the northern terminus of Arlington Heights road. A Pontiac car bound for Delavan Lake was being driven north on that road by Chicago people who were not aware that it did not go further than Dundee road. They went into the ditch and sustained minor injuries, while the car was damaged several times the cost of a warning sign that should have been in proper place.

Truck Loses Wheel, Ford in Ditch

Four Chicago women were on Rand road Sunday night, following a truck, which suddenly lost its wheel. In an effort to avoid a bad wreck, the driver turned the car towards the ditch, but hit the truck, with such force that the two ladies in the rumble seat went thru the rear window sustaining bad cuts. The shattered glass of the windshield saved the other two from bad cuts.

Mix-Up at Elmhurst-Seegers

A Ford car driven by Frank Caruso, of Melrose Park and a Chrysler, driven by Ed. Kahn, of Chicago, collided at Elmhurst and Seegers road Saturday night, with the result that the former was taken to the Mt. Prospect hospital. Both men received cuts about the face and minor bruises. Mr. Caruso, left for home the following morning and Mr. Kahn left Saturday night.

Loses Finger in Auto Crash

Mrs. Edith Hoyt, of South Mitchell avenue, Arlington Heights, lost a part of the middle finger of the left hand about 8:15 Monday morning, when her car was hit and turned over as she was crossing the Northwest highway northward at Dunton avenue.

Driving the other car, a Ford coupe, was Fred Plotow, of Crystall Lake. He dashed from the east around a truck which had stopped for the red light, claiming the car he had the green at. He struck Mrs. Hoyt's car at the right rear corner. She put her left hand out of the window to steady herself, not thinking that the car was going over; but it did so, mangling the hand. First aid was given at Dr. Pfaff's office; and full surgical attention at St. Joseph's hospital in Elgin.

Two Killed in Rand Road Accident

Mr. and Mrs. DiMarchi, 2708 N. California avenue, Chicago, died on the way to a Chicago hospital August 10 as the result of an accident on Rand road, corner of Hicks road, where their car hit a culvert. A brother, Anton Larson, received injuries from which he will recover. Occupants claimed that the car got off the road on account of fog. First aid was given at the Community hospital in Palatine. A farmer brought them in, but in spite of serious injuries, they insisted on being taken to a Chicago hospital, upon the journey to which, the two died.

Skull Fractured in Accident

Three ladies and a small child were injured in an accident Wednesday night on Rand road, near Quentin road, when a car skidded and hit a car going in the opposite direction. William Harris suffered from a fractured skull. Others in the car were Mrs. Dorothy Diaz and daughter and Mrs. Sarah Harris.

Speed and Curve Cause Accident

The sharp turn on the Northwest highway east of Smith street can perhaps be blamed for an accident Sunday afternoon, Aug. 7, as a result of which one occupant is still in the hospital with a broken spine and if he lives will probably be an invalid for life.

Meier-Ellis Wedding Marked By Simplicity

Miss Adele Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Meier, 407 N. Chestnut avenue, Arlington Heights, and Mr. Horace Ellis, also of Arlington Heights, were quietly married at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, August 16, at the Lutheran parsonage of the Rev. H. C. Fricke, English pastor of St. Peter church, who performed the ceremony. Miss Lorraine Meier, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Wilbert Meier, her brother, best man. The newlyweds are taking their wedding trip out to Montana and other points, and have secured one of the Landmeier apartments. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

The Turf Moves to New Home in Recreation Building on Vail Street

The Turf, popular place for many of the boys, has moved over to the Arlington Recreation building on Vail street, in the quarters formerly conducted by Roy Harris, which is certain to increase the popularity of the Turf. Mr. Hogzay has operated the Turf a number of years, knows what the public likes to eat and has depression prices on his menu. With an experienced chef in charge, nothing more can be said or wanted. The Turf patrons of the bowling alleys will no doubt welcome the permanent management that the "eat shop" will now have, which will mean a larger variety on the menu.

Supervisor Grandt Is on Vacation

Mr. Charles Grandt, Wheeling Township supervisor, and Mrs. Grandt, are on vacation in Michigan, for a week or ten days. Emergency calls can be made to Miss Greenspan, Seelye 6924. In case of County hospital calls, blanks can be gotten of Howard Helm.

E. F. LAURIN IS RECEIVER OF PEOPLES BANK

State Auditor Appoints Local Man and Stockholder to Liquidate

E. F. Laurin, of Arlington Heights, a certified accountant, was appointed by the state auditor Monday morning as receiver of the Peoples State Bank of Arlington Heights. Mr. Laurin at once entered upon his duties and will be ready to actively take up his work of liquidation by Monday morning. He will hold office hours every morning.

No official statement has yet been made as to the condition of the bank the day of its closing, but the action of the auditor's office in making the safe deposit boxes available to all owners and the speed in which the affairs of the institution were checked by them has given the impression that matters are in excellent shape. It will be the aim of Mr. Laurin to liquidate the bank in an orderly manner at least possible expense to the bank.

The appointment of Mr. Laurin, a stockholder of the bank, as a receiver, was a surprise in some quarters, but his appointment had the endorsement of prominent depositors and business men and by those who consulted the state auditor's office. There have been numerous cases where such reorganizations have taken place.

A. L. McElhose and Miss Myrtle Scharringhausen will remain in the bank at present as clerks.

That the appointment of a receiver does not in any way hinder or prevent the reorganization of the bank, was learned this week by those who consulted the state auditor's office. There have been numerous cases where such reorganizations have taken place.

Zealous Village Officials Act Twice in Same Place Which Was Once too Many

Did we hear anybody say that the water mains on S. Evergreen should be flushed? It was at the board meeting Monday night that the report came in. The meeting adjourned at 11:20. It was a nice moonlight night and Alderman Gus Framberg, who incidentally lives on State Road, but who is always anxious to please customers of the village water department, remarked to Officer Heinemann, "Bill, how about you and I flushing a few hydrants tonight? The water will have time to settle in the mains during the night." Bill said O. K. and they started out.

Alderman Barrett also enjoyed moonlight nights, but he decided to go to bed Monday night after the board meeting. The next morning, however, he issued orders to Wm. Luehring to flush those hydrants, which Bill No. 2 did. The water was riled up and the housewives who were getting dinner put up a holler, which proves that you can't please all the people all the time, no matter how hard a conscientious village official tries.

LIONS CLUB HOLDS WARM DISCUSSION

Votes for Committee to Investigate Possibilities and Report

Earnest consideration of initiating a movement for the starting of a community bank in Arlington Heights, now without a bank open, was urged Tuesday evening at the Lions club by president W. H. Boireau. Present at the meeting were four members of the Village Board, professional and business men, some of which are not Lion members; also the receivers of the two closed banks, Mr. W. L. Plew for the Arlington Heights State Bank, and Mr. E. F. Laurin of the Peoples State Bank.

After long discussion, lasting from about 7:30 to ten o'clock, it was moved and seconded that the president appoint a committee of citizens to investigate the possibilities of starting a community bank, and report at the next meeting. The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 6, but it is possible a special meeting will be called to receive the report, and act upon it. It is desired that if, and as, the movement progresses, that the committee contain representatives of all groups and interests in the village and surrounding farming country.

Discussion brought out the point that in the farmers and in the commuters are hitherto untapped resources of intelligence and strength which can be enlisted in the movement.

Back from a trip through the east, Mr. Boireau cited concrete incidents to show that "without any question the turn has come" in that section. The inference was that the "turn" is soon to appear in the middle west.

Men present were slow to speak at first, then serious questions were raised. Discussion brought out many points, the meeting gradually growing more optimistic, the idea being that business is going out of town for lack of bank service; it is "unthinkable" that the town can get along without a bank; and the community is due "to dry up" unless one is started. The project is seen to be of extreme difficulty, but still within the range of possibility.

It was freely emphasized that the proposed bank be spread as widely over the entire community, stock being subscribed for in small amounts by as many persons as possible; boosted as a civic, rather than a money-making enterprise, and with the understanding that it would render service to the community rather than net profits to the stockholders for the first two years or so.

Merchants mentioned customers coming into their stores for merchandise, carrying checks; and the business. Farmers and commuters are transferring their accounts; and with them, purchasing, to other towns, it was said.

Mr. Boireau reported interviewing a number of business men in the village, who promised support if a bank could be organized on a plan meeting their approval.

That the banks of the future will have to be guaranteed to the depositors the safety of their deposits, in order to merit and receive popular support, was emphasized by a professional man present.

Somebody is going to start a bank in Arlington Heights, it was generally agreed. Should it be a real community bank, run for community service and the eventual profits staying in the community, or should it be a chain or branch bank, with absentee ownership, clerk management, and all profits leaving town for good?

Among the speakers were Mayor Flentje, Judge Gilbert, Klehm, Assessor George Schaefer, Gus Framberg and O. G. Barrett. Village Attorney H. J. Thiel, Messrs. W. L. Sieburg, V. I. Brown, Dr. H. G. Dunn, M. H. Browne, Carl Ewert, Charles Padonk, and E. F. Heller, Orval Bader, and E. F. Laurin, in addition to Mr. Boireau, presiding.

Among the problems brought up were that of public support, which is absolutely essential, willingness of prospective stockholders to assume the double liability, sufficient interest, sufficient confidence, enough of which are able to give great strength to the movement both by the intelligence they would bring as well as their financial support; to enlist also the farmers, some 400 of whom are living within range of Arlington Heights.

ADOPTED AS ECONOMY MEASURE

Tax Jam Held Responsible for Present Conditions

CUT $10,000 OFF 1931 TAX LEVY

The opening of the Arlington Heights high school is delayed until the 19th of September; the purpose being to conserve funds as much as possible. It is a saving of a half month's salary of the teachers; each of the janitors also had taken previously a ten per cent cut for this year. The two weeks off is an additional cut.

The Board is planning to make an even greater reduction in operating expenses; but without making any more shortening of the school year unless obliged to do so at the end of the school year or by increasing the winter vacation.

All salaries are being paid in 1931 tax anticipation warrants. The board at no time has issued the legal seventy-five per cent of 1930 warrants; they are operating on 1931 warrants so that the warrants will be abundantly protected. It is their intention to carry out a similar policy as to the 1931 warrants.

At a special meeting last Friday, the Board by resolution cut the 1931 levy of $80,000 that had been made a year ago, to $80,000.

The 1932 levy of $80,000 remains, although there is a possibility of a further cut in that.

OPEN KITCHEN FOR CANNING IN ARLINGTON

Tomatoes Especially Acceptable for Relief Next Winter

The Relief Committee in Arlington Heights cooperating with Cook County Farm Adviser O. G. Barrett, of the Farm Bureau who has been working with Paul Rader's Pantry, are reopening the Community Kitchen opposite the theater on N. Evergreen street in Arlington Heights, for the purpose of canning needed food for relief work this coming winter.

Canning will be done at this place Wednesday, and probably three days a week as the work gains headway.

The first day, Thursday of last week, Mrs. A. H. Kalisch, Mrs. O. to Hermann and seven helpers, put up 130 cans. Soup stock is being prepared, and now that tomatoes are coming down in price very soon, they will be filling many cans.

It is the plan of the Relief committee (even though the State has taken over state-wide relief work, to be handled by funds under control of the State), to conduct Arlington Heights Community Dining Room, and again furnish to children and mothers not otherwise provided for, one good, well-balanced warm meal per day. Tomatoes will be an important item in the diet of these youngsters especially, because the vitamins contained in them, to be well provided in the usual diet by fruit, vegetables, milk, etc.

The expense item is reduced by the Paul Rader organization furnishing the cans. In return for this, it is hoped that sufficient cans can be filled so that a portion of the filled cans can be returned to Paul Rader's pantry, to be distributed through their department.

Locally, it is asked of people with farms and gardens about Arlington Heights who have tomatoes and other canable products that grow down in price on the market, that they bring them to help fill these cans. In this way, farmers who are not in position to give much money to help the deserving needy, still in good measure can lend a helping hand to the less fortunate with material wonderfully good when canned.

Other days than Wednesday the kitchen will be open, will be announced. Ladies from St. James church, Mrs. Sieburg in charge, are using the kitchen Thursday and Friday this week.

ROSINE BEAUTY SHOPPE

Complete Beauty Culture Service — Skilled Operators.

Rosine M. Kent, Owner

A thoroughly modern shop located on Northwest Highway at Mount Prospect, phone 998. Ladies are invited to visit this shop for pleasing beauty service.

In the Dark Ages—hundreds of years ago—women charmed men by their natural beauty. They spent endless hours in cultivating their charm and did all within their power to enhance their beauty. The most costly ointments were applied regularly with most painstaking care and skill to preserve their complexion and to improve upon Nature in her own way.

Today, however, we have a far different condition. Civilization and time have brought many changes—the principle of which is that women have elevated themselves to a point where they occupy positions of equal importance and value as those occupied by men. While women of today are equally as beautiful—if not more so—than those of centuries ago, the demands made upon their time have made it necessary to allow the task of enhancing their appearance to another whose knowledge and skill more aptly equips them to render this service. Just such is the mission of this beauty shop.

In completeness of equipment, in skilled operators as well as in appearance this shop ranks with the very best to be found in the state. It truly is metropolitan in the service it renders, yet the prices asked here are far beneath those asked in metropolitan centers. In this respect the women of this community are indeed fortunate.—Adv.

Nothing is more important in the health of our lives and promotion than the establishment everywhere of modern hospitals. It is a thoroughly modern institution in every way having heating, ventilating and thoroughly sanitary arrangements. They are quick to adopt any methods of treatment as quickly as they have been approved by the medical authorities. They are thus up-to-the-minute in every respect.

Everything about the institution at the home of Mrs. Bernhard Wednesday, August 10. Father Linden of St. Mary's church, Des Plaines, was the guest speaker. Anyone interested in this group are invited to attend. Mrs. J. Bernhard, the president, will be glad to explain the club's plans to anyone calling her.

Joe Bernhard and Bob Skillen are staying an extra week at the Boy Scout camp, Oh-Da-Ko-Ta.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bernhard, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Luckner, Mrs. S. Kent, and Miss Myrtle Frey left Sun, morning for a three day trip to Danville to attend the American Legion convention.

Frank Baldwin, Geo. Neitske and John Knoll, prominent Mt. Prospect business men were members of a fishing party. They did not tell their friends their destination, but return with about 20 pounds of fish, so goes the story, which is true even if their friends did not see anything of the fish.

The Landeck family held its annual reunion Sunday at Ryan's Woods at 85th and Western Ave., Chicago. The Landecks of this vicinity attending were Otto Landeck and family of Mt. Prospect; Prof. H. C. Landeck and family, Rev. A. C. Landeck and family of Arlington Heights. The feature of the day was the ball game between Landeck vs. Landeck.

Fred Maeske, Frank Bierman and Al Hazcke left Mt. Prospect about 2 a. m. Sunday, bound for the great outdoors of northern Wisconsin. They took along their own camping outfit and mean to spend their entire time of two weeks in the great open spaces. We await reports.

Little Charles Beckenbush, who was badly burned some time ago, was brought back Tuesday to Mt. Prospect general hospital for a skin grafting operation; and is now getting along nicely.

George L. Meier of Elk Grove was one of the lucky boys to win one of Sally Brown's invitations in the Sunday Tribune to see the Cubs on August 18. He wrote one of the 100 prize winning letters.

The "old bunch," Mr. Otto Malceske's acquaintances got together Saturday evening, August 13, and surprised him on his birthday. As usual they all had a good time until early in the morning. Cards were played and a midnight lunch was served.

At 11 o'clock, he will give a short sermon for young people on the subject, "Saved by a Boy's Voice." Miss Blanche Lyons of Evanston will sing a solo for the grown-ups and also for the children.

Mt. Prospect A. C. Defeats Northbrook

In a game that was filled with thrills, the Mt. Prospect A. C. baseball team defeated Northbrook last Sunday, Aug. 7, 8-5. The game was interesting to both spectators and players. Both teams played hard to the final out, believing in the saying, "A baseball game is never over until the last out in the ninth inning." There was not a dull moment during the whole game. Interesting plays took place every inning.

During the first part of the game Northbrook scored four runs, which made things look gloomy for Mt. Prospect, but a ray of light showed through when the boys scored three runs. After that the boys scored a run almost every inning. It was Mt. Prospect's 5th win of the season.

Watch the paper for the next home game, and come out and get your share of thrills, which are sure to be there.

MASCOUTEN CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The girls had a most enjoyable time at Camp Como. Hikes were made each day to Lake Geneva at which place the girls, sixteen of them, went swimming. A funny dress-up party occupied one evening and also a bathing beauty contest was held. June Wille won the funny dress-up prize.

The Mascouten Camp Fire Girls are holding a council fire at the Community hall this week Thursday. They will wear their ceremonial gowns and beads.

V. F. W. COMING EVENTS
The Chicago Letter Carrier's Post No. 245, Veterans of Foreign Wars, are having their basket picnic outing Sunday, Aug. 21, at Caldwell's Grove, Milwaukee and Devon avenues.

V. F. W. NOTES

Eighty-four years ago Sacramento, California, was the mecca of pioneers and gold seekers. During the week of August 28-Sept. 2, 1932, the city of Sacramento will again be the goal of an invading horde from all corners of the country. Instead of grizzled prairie fighters, equipped with picks and shovels and other implements designed to battle with the forces of nature, the influx of 1932 will be composed of America's overseas veterans, armed with a spirit of comradeship born of battles won in the cause of humanity.

This is the home town of Commander-in-Chief Donald De Coe and Mrs. De Coe, who is National Senior Vice President of the auxiliary. They are determined that the 1932 National Encampment will constitute the crowning achievement in the administrations of these two leading figures in V. F. W. circles.

Unique and unusual features will characterize the program of the 1932 National Encampment. The annual impressive and beautiful memorial ceremonies to be conducted on Sunday, Aug. 28, and the opening session on Monday, Aug. 29, will be broadcast over a national hook-up. For the first time in the history of the V. F. W. National Encampments, members of V. F. W. units in the far-flung corners of the country who are unable to journey across the country to Sacramento to participate in this year's encampment, will have the opportunity and privilege of tuning in on these opening ceremonies.

YOUR BANK'S VALUE to You

A storekeeper, located for 18 years within a block of a good bank, estimates that his business would decline 20% if the bank were not there. In other words, every five years he has done an extra year's business because of his location near the bank.

A good bank is of benefit to the entire community—the hub about which the wheel of business revolves. Your bank is of value to you to the extent that you take advantage of its facilities.

Make the utmost use of the service of your bank. In this way you aid in building one of the most constructive and essential institutions in your community. And you also help yourself.

WHAT'S GOING ON AT VILLAGE SEWAGE PLANT

Handles Big Volume; Would Stop Sources of Trouble

How Arlington Heights' only municipally-owned and operated utility, the $127,000 Sewage Treatment plant, is being operated, was explained by Engineer W. H. Allen in a report to the Village Board this week.

The operator, George C. Harriss, has acquired knowledge of the chemical testing, Mr. Allen states.

Water to the extent of five times the water consumption of the village goes through the sewage plant, not counting storm water which is by-passed around the plant. This indicates an enormous amount of water entering the sewers from general drainage. Up to this month, since the plant was started in the middle of April, 1931, the plant has handled on the average 904,000 gallons of sewage daily, or 181 gallons per capita per day.

The plant is removing 98 per cent of the total solid matter that comes to it, tests show. These tests are made hourly, not only of the incoming sewage, but of that out of the Imhoff tank and from the sprinkling filter. Samples for each day are mixed and kept in a refrigerator until complete, then kept for seven days at a temperature of 68 degrees and then analyzed.

Contrary to the Village ordinances, large quantities of oils, grease and acids are going into the sewers and interfering with the operation of the plant, according to the engineer. The operator, Mr. Harriss, has had to spend half of his time, some days, in skinning the grease off the tank. The acid works on the grease, with further disturbance. Tests for acid in the various sewers of the village show that most of the acid is coming from the Creamery Package Company plant, Mr. Allen states; adding that it would be better, and much more economical, to correct the condition at the plant than at the sewage treatment plant.

Grit not caught by catch basins is doing damage to the pumping equipment, Mr. Allen states, urging regular cleaning of the catch basins. Sooner or later, the impellers in the centrifugal pumps will have to be renewed, due to this wear.

Sludge-Fertilizer

Sludge has already been removed from the tanks, and Mr. Allen states he believes adjoining farms would be glad to utilize it. At any rate, it should be removed and the tanks restored, he advises.

Storm Water

The State Sanitary Water Board, in the interest of the purity of Weller Creek, which takes the outflow from the plant, has asked repeatedly in vain for a record of the flow of storm water from the town, for lack of a recording gauge at the outlet flume. Mr. Allen explains. The Board, for lack of funds, has not seen fit to install a gauge. Mount Prospect sewers are causing pollution at this outlet, he states, and to correct the condition, chlorine at the rate of 120 pounds per million gallons of sewage, is put into the stream by the Arlington Heights plant.

More chlorine should be ordered

Village Enters Fight For Kehe Motor Service

After eleven years of delivery service to and from Chicago for Arlington Heights and Palatine business places and individuals, Fred Kehe, of Kehe Motor Service, must go out of business, according to recent action of the Illinois Commerce Commission in refusing Mr. Kehe a certificate of convenience and necessity under which he might continue to operate.

The commission's reason was that this territory is adequately served by the Chicago & North Western railroad.

The Arlington Heights Village board Monday night passed a resolution addressed to the Commerce Commission, urging a rehearing on Mr. Kehe's petition, and praising the convenience and promptness of the service Mr. Kehe has given the business men of the village the past eleven years.

The resolution reads:

WHEREAS, The Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights is informed that the Illinois Commerce Commission has denied the petition of Kehe Motor Service, Inc., for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate as a motor carrier for the transportation of property between Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Chicago, on the sole ground that said territory is for the present adequately served by the Chicago & North Western Railway Company, and that public convenience and necessity for the present does not require the service proposed by said Kehe Motor Service, Inc., and ordered said Kehe Motor Service, Inc., to cease and desist operation as a public utility until it shall have obtained a certificate of convenience and necessity from said Commission;

AND WHEREAS, said Kehe Motor Service, Inc., has been satisfactorily operating motor trucks between Arlington Heights and Chicago daily for a period of eleven years, and has rendered service more prompt than that furnished by said Chicago & North Western Railway, picking up articles for shipment from, and delivering the same to, the places of business men in this Village, which said Chicago & North Western Railway Company has never done and is not now doing;

BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights desire the continuance of the service furnished by said Kehe Motor Service, Inc., and request said Illinois Commerce Commission to grant a rehearing and issue a certificate of convenience and necessity to said Kehe Motor Service, Inc., and that a copy of this resolution be sent to said Illinois Commerce Commission.

Arlington Heights Second Annual Flower Show Sept. 9-10

The second annual Flower show, sponsored by the Arlington Heights Garden club, will be held in the village hall, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 9 and 10. Anyone living in Arlington Heights or vicinity is eligible to make as many entries as he wishes, provided the flowers have been grown in their own gardens. There will be no charge for entries, and no charge for admission to the show. This is a home community affair and it is hoped that all flower lovers will get a lot of enjoyment out of it.

Below is a list of classes for entries. Where the entry is an arrangement in a bowl, vase or basket, exhibitors must furnish their own containers. In all other classes, containers will be furnished. It is urged that all exhibitors have their entries at the hall not later than 10:30 Friday morning, so that the committee on arrangements will have plenty of time to get all the flowers in their proper classifications for the judging, which will begin at 2 o'clock.

For any further information, call Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick, Martin Fehlmann, or Paul Patrick.

Commissioner Byrd Gets The Highway Opened

There was a hue and cry raised in the business district of Arlington Heights when the state highway department closed the highway thru the business district, awaiting the new pavement east of State road. A local committee called upon County Commissioner Homer J. Byrd, who made a few telephone calls and the barricade was removed with traffic routed thru the business district and south on State road to Center road.

Single Men Lose Opposite Banks

Eddie Duenn of the Paddock print shop surprised his friends last week by letting them in on the secret of his marriage to Miss Helen Kwite of Norwood Park. The bride is employed by the Schiel corporation, rug manufacturers at Western and Irving, and resides at 5724 Mobile avenue; the couple plan to make their home in Arlington Heights the first of September.

The joke is that Ed has been playing ball this summer on the single men's team. Now he will have to join the Benedicts.

REORGANIZE OR NEW BANK IS NECESSARY

Receiver Speaks

After the non-bankers in the meeting appeared to have had their say, Mr. W. L. Plew, receiver of the Arlington Heights State Bank, was called on.

Mr. Plew stated that whereas there has been much criticism of bankers, due to the closing of the two banks, "the fact remains that there have been some martyrs financially in this community," who have sacrificed personal fortunes in an effort to save the banks.

Why more rapid progress is not being made to liquidate the Arlington Heights State Bank more rapidly, and arrive at some dividend in a hurry, Mr. Plew explained by saying that if great pressure were put upon some of the business men in this financial crisis, it would put them out of business, create great hardship, and unemployment, close these business men out for little on the dollar when much more can be recovered for the depositors by giving the borrowers time to make good.

Any new bank to start now, would not have the competition that has been a bane of banking for many years past, Mr. Plew pointed out. The territory is bigger than ever, with so many banks closed. He suggested the stimulation of interest among the farmer and commuter groups whose help in organizing a bank would be of utmost value.

Banks will be run on a "fee basis," Mr. Plew stated; a small and active checking account will be charged for; a large and inactive account should receive some interest. "You cannot permit yourselves to think you can get along without a bank," he said.

Chain banks are impractical because it is almost impossible to get the high ability necessary to run them, Mr. Plew pointed out. A banker needs to understand every man's business, and from the financial standpoint, as well or better than ever, with so many banks closed. A small salaried outsider in charge of a local branch bank is not likely to possess the necessary ability of knowledge of the communities people and their enterprises.

Mr. Laurin, just appointed receiver for the People's Bank, stated in answer to inquiry, that an auditor's report will be forthcoming in a few days.

Merle Guild Post Makes Hit at State Convention, Danville

(Continued from Page 1.) On Monday we again lined up for the big parade, with Comrade Ralph Salisbury as drum major. All along the line of march the crowd gave us a good hand and let me tell you that it felt good to have the people cheer you on. We were the smallest corps in the parade, but the snappiest—we have Bill Bockmeyer's dad's word for that and you know that Pop is nothing like his son.

In the golf tournament held Sunday afternoon after the drill competition Merle Guild again made the Danville Commercial-News as follows:

"Victor Wilson, of Watseka shot a 75 on the Danville Country club course Sunday in order to take the lead in the American Legion state tournament. J. H. Kincaid, of Arlington Heights, turned in the second best 18-hole medal score—a 77. George Schneberger, also of Arlington Heights, registered a 92."

Otto Schwarz and Alex Ascaloff were also in the tournament.

We might add that Arlington Heights was well represented at Danville. Commonwealth-Edison Post won the Class A Drum and Bugle Corps prize and Comrade Stajack who lives on S. Highland avenue is a lead bugler in this corps. Mel Tierney, Post of Park Ridge, came in third in the state competition and Comrades McBride and Russell of Arlington Heights play with the post.

The Corps was housed in tents at Garfield Park, under the able supervision of Master of Arms, Comrade Joseph Schaeffer, who saw to it that the boys were made comfortable at all times. Comrade Walter Fincke deserves honorable mention for the splendid way in which he guarded the tents and equipment when the boys were either in competition, marching, or just seeing Danville.

In closing this article, we wish to say that all of us who made the trip had a very good time. We are well pleased with the work of the Drum and Bugle Corps, and our Commander, George Davidson, is very proud of all the boys and wishes to thank all of them for the splendid cooperation shown.

Announcing A Community Service

In the establishing of a Money Exchange in connection with our Real Estate business, we acted promptly to meet a condition that threatened to tie up the business of the community when it found itself without a banking institution.

Our charges are nominal, our purpose being more to supply a need in the community than to make a profit out of any transaction. All banks today are making a service charge, which is admitted as just and proper in the business world.

We think we are in a position to handle the present money exchange needs of Arlington Heights and surrounding territory. Farmers and others who have been accustomed to doing their banking and other business in Arlington Heights, can bring their checks here and engage in their trading at local stores, the same as they have in the past.

We Collect Interest Coupons and Interest Notes

We specialize in drawing up of renewal and extension papers on mortgages that have become due.

We will gladly render our services, and all matters will be held strictly confidential and will receive our prompt attention.

Arlington Red Wings Easy for East Maine

East Maine added another win to their fine string of victories by defeating the Arlington Heights Red Wings 15 to 3 at East Maine Sunday. The final count stood East Maine 15 runs, 15 hits, 1 error, Arlington 7 hits, 3 runs, 5 errors, Bill Selke was opposed by W. Meyer on the mound and each man had 7 strikeouts to his credit. Bill was in good form and had excellent control.

Batting honors went to Alex Rosek who knocked out four hits out of five times up, one of them a double.

Although Arlington's chief weakness lay in their defense, Meyer put off to a bad start in the first inning when East Maine's full battery order faced him for a total of 6 runs, 4 hits and 3 errors. The fourth inning was a repetition of the first, everybody batting to score 5 runs. In addition one run came in the second, 2 in the fifth and 1 in the seventh.

The Red Wings scored 2 in the sixth when Ray Willert tripled to score Bolte, who was safe at first on a fielder's choice which forced Dobbins at second, and Brodman who had singled. Willert died on third when Swanson was out at first. With two down in the ninth Swanson singled, Mezzariss walked and Meyer singled to score Swanson with run number three; but Tossman batting for Pizen, popped to the shortstop and the game was over.

Homernut—A. Rosek; three base hits—B. Selke, Gartner, Willert; two base hits—G. Selke, A. Rosek (2); Mahn, Ahrens, sacrifice—Gartner, Benic, Willert; double plays—Sietman to Gartner; base on balls—Schulenberg, Mezzariss; hit by pitched ball—Brodman; struck out—Selke 7, Meyer 7; errors—East Maine 1, Red Wings 5. Next Sunday East Maine will play Long Grove at East Maine.

Palatine Boosters to Face Colored Team Sunday

The Palatine Boosters will reorganize for a game with the Chicago Colored All Stars. The Boosters, who have scattered about in the last year, say that they are ready for the strongest opponents, for they have not lost their baseball spirit and that's the reason for the booking of this strong colored team. This game will take place at the Palatine high school grounds. This being a fast diamond, will give the fans plenty of thrills. Jim Gahlbeck will again be on the mound with Sanborn behind the bars. Sanborn, who hasn't caught Jim for a year, is anxious to have the bean ball pitcher burn them in. Jim and Sanborn getting along nicely in the past years.

So the Boosters would like to see everybody out for this big game, that the home boys have for Sunday. It will be a game of great interest and ought to bring out a record crowd. The game will start at 2 o'clock and the admission will be small enough to meet everybody's purse.

Effingham County Folks in Reunion

The annual reunion of the Effingham County organization took place Sunday, August 14, in the Arlington ball room, south of Arlington Heights. There were one hundred fifty attended from various parts of the state. Several new members enrolled since the last meeting.

The oldest man present was Mr. Neville of Deerfield, Mrs. Roy Dobbins' father. Mrs. Smart and Mr. Neville each received a prize basket of fruit. Other prizes were awarded in games and contests.

The day was ideal for outdoor sports and entered into with enjoyment. There was a picnic dinner generously spread and heartily enjoyed.

Never before has a reunion been so happily enjoyed. The genial good comradery of old friends and neighbors was the best part of the meeting. Yes, this latest Effingham county reunion should go on record as the red letter number until others excel its enjoyment.

Camp Closes Sunday

Camp Oh-Da-Ko-Ta will complete its eighth week of successful camping next Sunday and all the Northwest Suburban Scouts now in camp will return to their homes except those who have won recognition as honor camper. Four honor campers from Park Ridge and Des Plaines will take a trip through northern Wisconsin, visiting many points of interest. They will spend some time at the beautiful Menominee Indian Reservation. This trip is being planned instead of the usual canoe trip on the Fox river because of the unavailing condition of the river. The Scouts will be the guests of the camp.

More than 150 different Northwest Suburban Scouts and leaders have spent some time at camp this summer. This represents nearly 30 more than last summer.

Once again the slogan, "Every scout a swimmer," has been maintained, for not a single camper has failed to master the rudiments of swimming under the capable direction of the camp's water front officer, Leo Zeff. Many of our American Red Cross Life Saving tests and Scout Life Guard awards.

Local Scout officials feel that the camping season has been a highly successful one.

Local Scouts at State Fair

Robert Ulbrich of Barrington and Eugene Page of Park Ridge, two Eagle Scouts, left early Wednesday morning for Springfield, Ill., where they will represent the Northwest Suburban Council at the State Fair in connection with the State Fair which opens tomorrow.

The Eagle Village is a regular feature of the State Fair. It is made up of 32 Eagle Scouts from councils all over the state of Illinois. While there they operate a model troop camp where they live within the fair grounds. Several times each day they stage an exhibition of various phases of scouting and similar activities. Some of the specialties are: Silvercraft, Whip Cracking, First Aid, Wall Sealing, Fancy Marching, Leathercraft, Rope Spinning, Fire Building, Hatchet Throwing, Bugling, Woodcarving, Archery, Tent Pitching, Rope Climbing, and Indian Lore. The scouts of the Eagle Village also perform many kinds of services about the fair grounds.

A board of supervisors has no power to extend the delinquent date for the payment of taxes beyond the time fixed by law. Attorney General Oscar E. Carlson has advised the state's attorney at Princeton. The opinion also held that the board lacks authority to suspend the penalty for non-payment.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 14.

The Golden Text was, "Now the just shall live by faith; but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him. But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul" (Hebrews 10:38, 39).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation. He only is my rock and my salvation; he is my defense; I shall not be greatly moved. My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him" (Psalms 62:1, 2, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind is the Soul of man, and gives man dominion over all things" (p. 307).

Editorial

WE'VE TAKEN OFF OUR BLUE GLASSES

The reversal in public sentiment since the last of June has been little short of sensational. From the depths of depression we have risen to an attitude of well grounded optimism. The truth of the old expression, "It's always darkest just before dawn" has apparently once more been proved. We hope our blue glasses have been discarded permanently.

Commodity prices have been rising without interruption for seven weeks. Billions of dollars have been added to our national wealth by the increase in value of hogs, cattle, grain and cotton. From July 1 to August 6, the increase in prices of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange was about ten billion dollars. Even more significant, according to experienced financial observers, has been the steady rise of bond prices. Taken as a whole this advance presents the most important improvement occurring in any five-week period since the depression started.

That the growth in favorable sentiment is soundly based, is shown by business reports from many sections of the country. Factories are reopening; other manufacturers are increasing their staffs to take care of additional orders. More people at work means added purchasing power, justifying further advances.

The banks of the nation are benefiting along with their respective communities in this march toward recovery. Better bond prices have increased the value of their investments, adding substantially to their strength and stability. The increase in employment and in general business activity and in the values of farm products will inevitably result in larger bank deposits, thereby broadening their loaning capacity.

A rapid advance of this character in business and industry and market operations can hardly be expected to continue without interruption. There may be breathing spells and even minor setbacks. But economists, business men and the public as a whole seem to be convinced that the worst is definitely over and that the general trend from now on will be upward. Let us all talk, act and work constructively to hold and extend the gains of the past few weeks.

Tires Last Longer If Care Is Taken

Motorists may increase tire mileage by observing the following simple rules, suggests the emergency road service of the Chicago Motor Club.

Don't subject tires to unnecessary sunlight; keep covers on spare tires.

Don't make sudden stopping a habit; every slide removes a layer of rubber.

Don't see how quickly you can start; spinning the wheels is severe on tires.

Don't run over boards, rubbish, or other objects; they may conceal broken glass or nails.

Don't park in a puddle of oil; oil eats rubber.

Don't use the curb as a brake; it may break a tire casing.

Memories of a Vacation Trip

CARL W. ZERSEN

As the summer weather approaches, people begin to think of vacation days. They look and long for these days to take them away from the daily routine of life, from the faces and surroundings they see for fifty weeks of the year and long to see other parts of the world, which, after all, may not be more beautiful than the surroundings they want to leave. "The grass is always greener in the other fellow's yard" is an old saying with a lot of truth in it.

However, it is generally agreed that a change or vacation is very beneficial to man and in hearty agreement with this thought were Mr. Wm. Kirchhoff, Sr., and his grandson, Carl W. Zersen. Mr. Kirchhoff had been accustomed for years to travel out West during the summer to inspect his farm in North Dakota and during recent years had also spent several of the winter months with his wife in Florida, but due to advancing age, which brought with it a slight ailment or affliction to Mrs. Kirchhoff's knee, she declined a trip to the south during the last winter. Mr. Kirchhoff, however, being of excellent health, hale and hearty, with the enthusiasm of a young man and a desire to see this beautiful world of ours from one end to another was in hearty accord when his grandson suggested to him to come along with him on his vacation trip during the first eighteen days of July. Mr. Zersen had planned for a long time to visit with his brother and family in far off British Columbia, the province along the west coast of Canada. This suggestion appealed to Mr. Kirchhoff, since Rev. Zersen and his wife of Kelowna, British Columbia were his grandchildren too and it would also afford him the opportunity of seeing his little great-granddaughter, only 13 months of age, Doris by name. The trip would also recall many interesting incidents to his mind, since he had traveled out to this part of the country once before, in 1905 with his son-in-law, Rev. F. Zersen to see the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

The date agreed on when to lift anchor was June 30th. After much consultation with others as to the best route to take, it was agreed to travel on the Milwaukee St. Paul because among other things this route has 656 miles of electrified rail. Mr. Marxen, city passenger agent of the Milwaukee St. Paul and a personal friend of Mr. Zersen came out to Mr. Kirchhoff's home in Mt. Prospect one evening and here a schedule was laid out, which would ultimately land us at our destination in Kelowna, B. C.

Following were the arrangements. The Olympian, the crack train of the road was to be our steed, and we would not have to leave our train until we arrived at Seattle.

Left Union Station 10:45 p. m. Stand time Thursday evening; arrived Seattle 9:00 a. m., Sunday morning.

Left Seattle 9:00 a. m. by boat Monday morning; arrived Victoria 1:00 p. m. by boat, Monday noon.

Left Victoria 2:00 p. m. by boat Monday noon; arrived Vancouver 6:00 p. m. by boat, Monday evening.

Left Vancouver 10:30 p. m. by train Monday evening; arrived Sicamous 10:30 a. m. by train, Tuesday morning.

Left Sicamous 11:00 a. m. by train, Tuesday morning; arrived Okanagan, landing at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday afternoon.

Left Okanagan, landing by boat at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday afternoon; arrived Kelowna 4:30 p. m. by boat Tuesday evening.

The trip from Chicago to St. Paul was uneventful. Once upon a time this had been considered a long and daring journey but on this trip, all the way across our continent to the coast, it was merely a little jaunt, just a part of a long journey. We arrived here at 7:30 a. m. on Friday morning, having traveled these 410 miles in exactly 48 hrs. and 45 minutes. Since we did not have to leave our train, we were comfortably seated in the parlor car as the train pulled out again fifteen minutes later. The next short stop was Minneapolis and then onward and onward our trusty steed carried us across valleys and plains, alongside rivers and lakes. As we left Minnesota we came into South Dakota, where the landscape was quite different. The beautiful green meadows, trees and shrubbery were left behind and only desolate prairies, sometimes rolling and more often just flat, barren land, covered with sage brush. For hours not a tree could be seen and even some villages and towns were void of the slightest trace of a tree under which the inhabitants could find protection or experience the pleasure of a moving breeze, but these people too, I suppose, were as citizens of Mt. Prospect are of theirs. What a strange world this would be if we all had the same desires and longings to live in the same locality. In order to populate this vast country we must also have people who think that the Garden of Eden can also exist on the lonesome prairies of South and North Dakotas and Montana and they can, otherwise they would not stay.

Early Saturday morning we arrived at Harlowtown, Montana, where the steam locomotive was relieved of most of electrical power. No more smoke or soot from the locomotive, although one really can't complain of this condition when coal power was used. Here the foot hills of the mountains introduced us to the majestic scenery, which was now to unfold itself before our eyes. Gradually the invisible horses, which were pulling our train carried us into higher altitudes. After about two hours through these foot-hills, the hills became more rocky and rugged, higher and higher. The railways on one side so deep and the mountains on the other side so high that one marvelled at the engineers skill, which had laid and planned this road bed. The train would circle the mountain in order to make the ascent more gradual and when looking out of the windows or from the open observation car one could see how the train curved and windled around the corners like a snake in the grass. Often the train went right through the mountains, tunnels having been cut through this rocky formation, some of course only of a short length. One in particular was 22,000 feet long. At Butte, Mont., we crossed the great divide, the highest point along our road, from where the altitude would gradually decrease again. This location was called attention to by large billboards, erected there by the railroad. At this point we were exactly 6,347 ft. above sea level. Mr. Zersen had his kodak along and took many pictures which will always be a lasting memory of this majestic and beautiful work of nature. The mountain areas, of course, are not all designated as the Rockies. The Rockies are the eastern formation, the Bitterroot the central and the Cascades the western. In the Bitterroot region we came across thousands of acres of burnt forest lands. In Washington beautiful farm lands and buildings could be seen and toward evening on Saturday we left the mountainous region. On Sunday morning 9:00 a. m. we alighted along this 80 mile trip and close to 4:30 p. m. we spied a city, close to the shore, the city for which we were looking. The feeling one had as one viewed from a distance this community, where a brother and sister-in-law and little baby were building their own home, among strangers, in a far off land cannot very well be described. The surrounding country was high, covered with forests and a stillness and calmness existed, that one wondered how this far off place had ever been found.

Outdoor Spectacle Of Grand Opera in Soldier Field, 28-31

Something entirely new in entertainment—outdoor spectacle performances of grand opera—will be presented with a cast of more than 1,000, which includes principals of international repute, a huge orchestra combining the Chicago Civic and Metropolitan players, a large ballet and a chorus of 215 voices.

Aida is scheduled for presentation Sunday evening, August 28, and in the triumph scene, in addition to the huge army of singers, dancers and pantomime artists, a troupe of camels, horses and elephants will be used. For the first time in the history of the stage, a thousand people will be used in Il Trovatore, together with horses and donkeys.

The performances are under the direction of Maestro Alfredo Salmaghi, noted Italian operatic impresario, who has made a great success of open air "circus" performances of opera in Europe, South America, Mexico and eastern cities of the United States. The company is brought to Chicago direct from a triumph in Washington, which was preceded by thrilling performances in Yankee Stadium, New York, when the company played to 48,000 persons in one performance.

Seats are being provided for 50,000 spectators at Soldier Field for both Aida and Trovatore, and the directors of the company expect all records for attendance at operatic performance to be broken by Chicago. Popular prices, 50 cents to $2, will be charged. Seats are on sale at Marshall Field and Co., Chicago; Lyon and Healy, Chicago and Easton and all Couthouli and Waterfall ticket agencies, and Summy's.

Four of Maestro Salmaghi's principal artists will be making Chicago debuts in Aida. They are Anna Lesskaya, Russian dramatic soprano; Pasquale Ferrara, Italian dramatic tenor; Dreda Aves, contralto, and Nino Ruisi, basso. Mme. Lesskaya has been hailed by eastern critics as one of the greatest soprano voices of our day. She has scored triumphs in New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Cincinnati. Pasquale Ferrara is an Italian resident in Philadelphia since childhood, who a few years ago went to Italy to conquer the land of his birth. He was eminently successful. A tour of South America followed, and now Ferrara has returned to the United States labeled the leading dramatic tenor of the day, and thrilling eastern audiences with his powerful and highly musical voice. Dreda Aves is prima donna contralto of the Metropolitan Opera, and Nino Ruisi leading basso of the Havana Opera Co.

Pasquale Amato, who needs no introduction to local music lovers, is the leading baritone of the company. The cast for Aida will be: Aida—Anna Lesskaya; Amneris—Dreda Aves; Rhadamis—Pasquale Ferrara; Amonasro—Pasquale Amato; Ramfis—Nino Ruisi.

If Chicago responds to his offerings as he believes it will, Maestro Salmaghi plans a season of indoor opera at the Auditorium during the winter. The impresario has brought together an imposing company, and is confident that Chicago will add its seal of approval to grand opera as an outdoor spectacle.

Drinking at Harvard
Reaches Lowest Level

Drinking at Harvard university has reached its lowest level in the last two or three years, according to Dr. Alfred Worcester, professor of hygiene, who supervises the health of the students, as he is quoted in the New York Times. Dr. Worcester says:

"For more than a hundred years there has been a steady decline in the drinking of hard liquor by Harvard students. In at least the past seven years the decrease has been notable and highly gratifying. In the last two or three years, the increasing sobriety of the student body has been even more marked."

Buster Keaton
On Oriental Screen

Buster Keaton and Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante continue their combination as the most hilarious of all screen comedy teams in "Speak Easily" coming to the Oriental Theater Friday, August 19.

The fun riot they started in "Passionate Plumber" is carried on into this new laugh romance with added comedy developments. Keaton has long been acclaimed as the frozen-faced comedy king and Durante has recently come into favor as the supreme purveyor of long-nosed "hot-cha" antics. Together they are said to provide the funniest screen situations that have ever been filmed in a picture.

The theme of "Speak-easily" concerns the adventures of an absent-minded college professor, played by Keaton, who inherits nearly a million dollars and decides to go out and "see life." He makes the acquaintance of Jimmy, the piano player of a musical show stranded in a small town, and "adopts" the entire troupe for a Broadway run. The many complications they encounter in their theatrical career provide plenty of comic upsurge.

Completing the cast of "Speak Easily" are many well known comedians including Ruth Selwyn, Thelma Todd, Hedda Hopper, William Pawley, Sidney Toler, Lawrence Grant, Edward Brophy and last but not least the volatile little Henry Armetta who was a comic sensation in "Huddle."

On the stage of the Oriental Theater there will be one of the peppiest and snappiest stage shows of the year. It will be one of the most lavishly produced shows ever presented on that stage. There will be a great array of talented players including Ruth Selwyn, Thelma Todd, Hedda Hopper, William Pawley, Sidney Toler, Lawrence Grant, Edward Brophy and last but not least the volatile little Henry Armetta who was a comic sensation in "Huddle."

"Jewel Robbery,"
On Chicago Screen

"Jewel Robbery," with William Powell and Kay Francis in the starring roles, comes to the Oriental Theater Friday, August 19. This popular pair are each stars in their own right. Yet so enthusiastically were both over the leading roles of "Jewel Robbery" that they fairly cheered the suggestion of the production heads of the studio that they co-star in one picture.

Powell has never been as dashingly delightful as he is the enigma of the European police and the despair of women he robs. Kay Francis is dazzling as the lovely Baroness Teri, whose only passion is precious stones until she meets the conquering personality of her despotic.

In translating this unusual drama to the screen, Warner Bros. have stopped at nothing to surround their two stars with a perfect cast of players.

Heading these players are Helen Vinson, Hardie Albright, Henry Kolker and Spencer Charters. In brief but vivid roles are such experienced actors as Lee Kohlmar, Charles Coleman, Andre Luguet, Robert Greig, Clarence Wilson, Leo White and Ivan Linow.

In conjunction with "Jewel Robbery" the Chicago theater stage boasts of a mammoth stage show called "Birthday Party" which is just about the smartest, fastest, happiest birthday celebration ever conceived. Among the entertainers are Sylvia Clark, one of America's foremost character comedians who has built up an international reputation for her clever impersonations; Frank and Warren Lassiter, a riotous team of brother comedians who mingle hilarious comedy and genuine acrobatic skill with their clever dancing; Morgan and Stone, banjoists supreme and the "Cocanuts" ensemble, a versatile and well-trained mixed chorus of hot-steppers and singers.

4 Marx Brothers
Are At McVickers

Good news for Chicago! The Marx Brothers Theater will reopen the McVickers Theater with their latest laugh panic, "Horse Feathers" Thursday, August 18.

This queer quartet of funsters have in just three pictures gained the distinction of being America's favorite comedians. Everywhere their pictures have shown their reception has been the same, wild uproarious laughter. Every moment they are on the screen is a hilarious one. The millions of screen fans who chuckled at their antics in "Cocanuts" and "Animals Crackers" will not be disappointed in "Horse Feathers" for this latest vehicle of the mad Marxmen has been acclaimed by critics to be a positive riot. Laughs roll on laughs until even those staid and hard-boiled representatives of the press were said to have been in hysterics. This time the Marx mania goes collegiate—and with a vengeance. Groucho is a college president who has accepted the post in order to get Zepo, in his twelfth year as a freshman, out of college. Harpo is working his way through school as the town dog-catcher, who every now and then neglects the dogs to pursue a trim ankle. Chico is an enormous ice-man who plays college football and runs a speak-easy on the side. Between them they make the picture just a long loud college yell.

Legion Boys Enjoy Talk By Comrade Boireau

Remember what we told you in a recent issue of this paper that our Commander, George Davidson, promised to have a real live meeting on August 9. Well, George lived up to his word and after the usual business of the post was finished, asked Comrade Boireau to tell us about his recent trip through the East.

If you were one of the few members missing you certainly missed hearing a good talk, Comrade Boireau gave us an eye witness account of the B. E. F. Encampment at Johnston and the reasons for disbanding same. It was very interesting, after Mr. Boireau finished talking a rising vote of thanks was given him, and an informal discussion took place on what he had said—the speech and discussion afterwards was so interesting and successful that Commander Davidson advised us that he would try to have at least one meeting per month set aside for a speaker on national subjects followed by an informal discussion, such as was held last Tuesday.

After the meeting the Drum and Bugle Corps and Color Guard held a short meeting at which time final arrangements were made about the convention to be held at Danville on August 15.

Make it a point to be at our next meeting Tuesday, August 23rd, you will hear a lot about the state convention and will be on hand to congratulate the drum and bugle corps for coping the prize in their class.

Don't forget that next meeting opens our fall session—Davidson has provided for interesting meetings throughout the past year and says that these meetings will even be more interesting.

Don't forget, Tuesday, August 23; time, 8:30 p. m.; place, Legion Club house. We'll have a lot of news for you.

THE CORRECT APPLICATION OF MAKE-UP

After you have decided, by experiment, or thoroughly expert advice, just what is the proper make-up for you—what colors to blend to bring out to the fullest your natural coloring of color, comes the problem of applying it correctly.

In applying rouge a spot should be placed on each cheek and the edges smoothed away until the color blends off softly at the edges. The type of face, be it round, oval or long determines the placing of this spot. For the oval face the spot of rouge should be placed in the center of the cheeks and blended off toward the ear, upward toward the eyes and down to the jawline. The deepest portion should be well centered.

The round face should have the rouge spot placed low and blended beneath the cheek bone. The center spot of rouge should be placed about at the cheek bone on the long face and blended softly over the cheek.

The lips should be rouged at the center, the rouge then smoothed over the inner portions of the lips and blended to the edges with the little finger. The underlip should be well rouged on the small mouth, the large mouth should be rouged only at the center and inner portions to create a more attractive line.

Powder should be applied all over the face with the exception of the eyelids. All superfluous powder should be wiped off, a tiny brush will remove any particles from the lashes and brows. The lids should be rubbed ever so lightly with cream. If the brows and lashes are too light use an eye pencil very discreetly. Mascara should only be used in the evening.

High School 'Farm Lands' Yield Profits

(Des Plaines Suburban Times)

Yes, they have got a farm out at Maine high school and farmers will tell you that it is a good one. In fact the high school farm is so good and so useful that it more than completely provides the high school cafeteria with vegetables during season.

Under the direction of C. B. May, head of the agricultural department at Maine, some 30 acres are under cultivation on the high school tract to the east of the school. This 30 acre tract is planted, maintained and harvested by the students, some 70 being enrolled in the agriculture classes.

Beans, cabbages, cauliflower, sweet corn, beets, parsnips, carrots, onions, tomatoes, vegetable sprouts, lettuce, peas, brussels sprouts, peppers, egg plants, etc., are provided for the cafeteria from the tract being farmed under Mr. May's direction. It is estimated that the cafeteria at the high school is saved some $600 a year by this agricultural project of the students.

Besides the general 'farm tract,' some 22 individual student projects are maintained. Students enrolled in the 'ag' courses plan, plant, maintain and harvest their plots and use the harvest as their choice. Ag students are required to spend a minimum of 10 hours of work, during the summer months, on their own or the general project to receive school credit. And, according to Mr. May, the boys are glad to put in these hours.

It might be interesting to know that Mr. May expects the present sweet corn crop, to be sold on the market, to realize practically all of the expenses entailed with equipment, etc., during the past year.

Costing taxpayers a minimum, the agriculture project at the high school, turning the big weed patches into productive farm lands for the benefit of students and school alike, is well worth while. It has been commended by nearby truck-growers and farmers as meritorious and worth while and its popularity with students, particularly during the present 'back-to-the-land' (and garden) economic necessity, is seen in the increasing number in the classes which come under 'Farmer' May's direction.

To Grade Northwest Highway Widening to Beyond Cary this Fall

(Barrington Review)

The Northwest highway paving, which is included in the state road construction program for widening to 40 feet, will be graded this year as far as the junction west of Cary where highways 12, 19, and 22 converge, but the actual pouring of concrete may not take place until next spring, according to an unofficial report received at The Review office.

Early in the year it was announced that the Northwest highway would be widened through Lake county. Later the plans were changed to include that part of McHenry county southeast of the junction in which 12, 19, and 22 converge.

A highway official reported that grading work will start in the near future. The entire 11 miles of road from the junction southeast to Main street intersection in Barrington will be widened in grade this fall. Some actual paving may be done before winter. When the job is complete, the Northwest highway will be a 40 foot thoroughfare all the way from the junction to Chicago, except for one small bottle neck in Arlington Heights. The road around Palatine was widened this spring.

FORMER BENS. RESIDENT CONGRATULATES EDITOR

McAllen, Texas, Aug. 11, 1932
Mr. H. C. Paddock,
Arlington Heights, Ill.

I discovered a wee bit late that you had eighty youthful years upon your head. May you enjoy many more happy healthy years.

Sincerely regret not having seen you on my visit to Illinois this summer, but time does pass in a hurry when on a vacation and a person has time to see so very few of one's friends, in a short vacation time.

I still love Illinois and found it more than beautiful this time with its golden fields of grain ready to harvest. Some time though, when you want to get away from Old Man Winter, we wish you would come to the Rio Grande Valley and call on us.

This has been a very hot summer down here with very little rain so the orchards have had to be irrigated oftener than usual. The fruit crop is not as heavy this year as it has been the past two years. But it is just as well, probably.

With many good wishes to you
Mrs. Edna Stellman Senf.

Massed Flight Of 450 Planes Thrill Thousands

Thousands of San Diegoans and many notable visitors were thrilled by the massed flight of over 420 Army, Navy, and Marine Corps' planes that took place at San Diego, California, on the 28th of July. All types of fighting planes were represented from small single seated combat planes to multimotored big bombers. Roaring past the reviewing stand at over one hundred miles per hour and only several hundred feet in the air flashed squadron after squadron in close order formation. To those on the ground it appeared as if the wings of each plane touched the tail of the plane ahead of it. The parade was primarily for the benefit of the National Editorial Association whose members represented thirty-nine states. Editors of seven foreign newspapers were also present. All were visiting California to witness the Olympic games.

An Army pursuit squadron led off with an aerial snake dance. Following this all squadrons passed in review. The finale was a "three way dive" upon a theoretical target by an eighteen-plane navy fighting squadron. To the amazed spectators the planes appeared to come from all directions as they dove on the target, descending in vertical dives from seven thousand feet. The diving planes traveling nearly 300 miles per hour made many visitors, unexperienced in aerial maneuvers, seek cover.

The first large flight of planes to take place over San Diego occurred during the year 1918, at which time 150 planes participated. The flight on the 28th contained more military and naval planes than have ever operated together before.

Ensign George E. Beardsley, U. S. Navy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Beardsley of Arlington Heights, who during the past sixteen months has served with the Naval Aviation Detachment at San Diego, was one of the Navy's three hundred aviators to participate. Ensign Beardsley has recently been assigned to Fighting Plane Squadron Five as navigator and assistant communication officer. The squadron, known as the "Red Rippers," consists of eighteen of the latest single seated fighters.

COOPERATION

Cooperation between the Business Men and the Citizens of Arlington Heights is of prime importance today.

"I am looking out for myself" is a fallacy that has wrecked and will wreck many a business man and any community that allows such a spirit to gain ascendancy.

Pessimism brought about the closing of the two banks of Arlington Heights. That same Pessimism, can have a devastating effect upon every business house, every local enterprise, our churches, schools and the entire community life.

It is the job of a community newspaper to spread optimism, but it cannot do the job without the help of citizens of the community.

The editor has direct charge of the front page and news sections of the paper. The advertising columns are in the hands of the business men.

The people of Arlington Heights and the adjoining community of which this village is the logical trading center are depending upon the Herald to bring to them word of what is happening DOWN TOWN in Arlington Heights—what the business men are going to do without a bank, etc.

An unusual condition exists today. No business house can stand solely upon its own efforts. Interests and welfare of all are intertwined with one another. There is no easier or cheaper method of driving out pessimism from Arlington Heights than through the ARLINGTON HEIGHTS HERALD.

The HERALD is ready to do its part through the news columns.

The advertising columns await the cooperation of the business men.

Business may be at a low ebb; the public may not be in a spending mood, but there is danger that many former customers of Arlington Heights business men will get the habit of doing their trading in other communities.

If that business is worth having, it is worth defending by an advertising appropriation.

The advertising department is prepared to talk over sales promotion, space contracts and to aid any business man in planning effective advertising copy, with suitable cuts.

F. F. DANIELSEN

Funeral Director — Ambulance Service
No Charge for Use of Chapel

Funeral home located at 5 South Bothwell Street, at Chicago Avenue in Palatine, phone 223.

It is eminently fitting in this review that we denote conspicuous space in a well merited tribute to the efficient and conscientious work that has won for this well known professional man a prominent place among funeral directors in this section. There is no vocation requiring for its successful prosecution a greater natural aptitude than that of the modern funeral director, and this particularly applies to this well known representative of this valued profession. Through untiring efforts and commendable methods he has progressed from a modest beginning until today he possesses a clientele that extends over many miles of territory.

As is generally known he is recognized as among the most proficient and conscientious people in this line in this section and this distinction is well merited as the excellent service he has rendered in the practice of the profession will testify. It may be truly said that no one in this section engaged in the arduous profession of which he is an able exponent is better equipped from every standpoint to carry out all of the work attendant upon the calling.

We wish in attempting to set forth the most pertinent features of our onward progress to give prominent mention to the modern equipment and admirable work which has won for this well known man the prominent position which he has merited and to compliment F. F. Danielson as a professional and business man who is thoroughly abreast of the times.—Adv.
